REEF EDGE

HAVING AN EDGE WITHOUT THE NOISE

The manufacturing process of the reef edge has enabled us to remove the locators that usually sit in our wooden table tops, reducing the contact noise between tops and legs.

The reef edge is 5mm thick, with a slight protruding lip which improves the grip when lifting the top.

AN UNBREAKABLE BOND

The Reef Edge is chemically bonded to the table substrate, ensuring that it is permanently fixed to the table top.

Manufacturing Process:

The table tops are placed inside a mould and a polymer component is injected into the remaining cavity around the edge. The resulting edge is a durable super hard rubber-like profile, preventing issues common in standard edging solutions.
